Bill May taught in Newark's schools for forty years. His photos show the school system from the 1970s to the early 2000s.

Join him today for his talk with the Newark Public Library's Thomas Ankner. They will discuss his collection, available on the Library's digital archive.